Locating the Clitoris

- Stand in front of a mirror and gently pull back the labia majora with your fingers.The clitoris is a small, bead-like structure located at the top where the two labia minora meet.
  It may be covered by the clitoral hood when you are not sexually aroused.

Tips

Turn on the device. Move the suction opening back and forth along the folds of your intimate area.
The spot that brings distinct pleasurable sensations is your clitoris.

- What does a clitoral orgasm feel like?
  After waves of tingling, lingering pleasure, you will feel rhythmic contractions of your pelvic floor muscles — this signals you have reached orgasm!

Tips

Beginners may want to have a waterproof mat handy.

◎ If you cannot locate it, try this:

When you are not sexually aroused, the glans clitoris may be covered by the clitoral hood.
Upon receiving stimulation, the glans clitoris will swell with blood.

The glans clitoris is extremely sensitive. Direct stimulation may feel uncomfortable.
(Direct stimulation is only recommended if you struggle to locate it.)

Yes. This toy contains a lithium-ion battery. For aviation safety, do NOT place this battery-powered electronic device in checked baggage.

How do I clean it?

This product is rated IPX7 waterproof. Rinse with clean water after use. Do not submerge it. You may use a mild specialty toy cleanser before and after use. Dry thoroughly, attach the tail dust-proof cap, and store in a cool, dry location.

Do not clean with alcohol-based products, as this may shorten the product lifespan.

How often can I use it?

There is no fixed usage limit. Please listen to your body. Frequent use over a short period may raise your sensory threshold and make orgasm harder to achieve. This effect is temporary; sensitivity will return to normal after rest.

Will it affect my health?

2-3 uses per week is perfectly fine. You may adjust the frequency based on your personal condition. Feel free to enjoy the experience as long as you feel no physical discomfort.

- Will it always feel pleasurable?

  Sensitive areas vary from person to person. Locate the correct spot first before applying stimulation. With several attempts, you will find it easier to achieve pleasure as you grow familiar with use.
